

Abstract of the Invention

The invention provides a package for storing medical devices that substantially eliminates reaction of a pharmaceutical agent, antimicrobial agent or both with light, 5 which agent is incorporated into the device or contained in a solution in which the device is packaged.